

From the Desk of State Representative Rosemary Mulligan

October 22, 2012

<First> <Last>
<Address>
<City>, IL. <Zip>

Dear <First>:

For many years, I had the great honor and privilege of serving as State Representative. Throughout my public service career, I have always worked to be an independent voice for women in our communities. Soon, I will be retiring from the Legislature, but this fall, we can still elect a State Representative who understands our needs and concerns and will fight for us.

Marty Moylan is a leader who shares my belief that a woman's personal medical decisions should be made by her and her doctor, not politicians in Springfield. I hope you will join me in helping Marty become our next State Representative.

I've always believed that women in our community deserve a leader who will protect our personal freedoms. This is a commitment I know Marty Moylan shares. Like me, Marty will ensure that women have the final say in their own healthcare decisions.

When I first ran for State Representative, I challenged a radical politician whose views were far out of step with our community. Today, the same extremists are lining up behind Marty Moylan's opponent Susan Sweeney.

Susan Sweeney and her extremist allies will not represent our views in Springfield. They will put women's lives in danger by opposing their right to make reproductive healthcare decisions, even if they're the victim of rape, incest or when their life is at risk.

Our daughters and granddaughters deserve better than to refight battles over their basic freedoms. If you value the independent leadership I have worked to provide, and believe our leaders should put our interests ahead of extreme ideology, the choice this fall is clear. Please join me in supporting Marty Moylan for State Representative on Tuesday, November 6.

Sincerely,

Rosemary Mulligan
State Representative